The Scottsdale Professionals hosted their launch party in a beautiful home in the upper canyons of Silverleaf. Doctors, attorneys and marketing professionals were invited to connect and mingle at this fun informal event.

Founded by Brook Choulet, M.D. and Lindsay Benjamin, J.D., owner of Benjamin Legal, The Scottsdale Professionals Collective is a curated community aiming to foster meaningful in-person connections among leading physicians and attorneys in Scottsdale and surrounding areas. More than just another networking group, this supportive environment allows member-only professionals to share insights, collaborate on challenges, and access resources vital to the success of their practices and firms. The group is committed to amplifying the visibility and expertise of its members within the local professional community. According to Dr. Choulet, “We have partnered with leading small businesses in the area to provide essential services to our members, allowing our businesses to thrive.”
